

What does American music sound like?

Tuesday
March 26
Julie Rogers
Theatre

We know what American food tastes like.

We know when we see an American cowboy movie or movies like E.T.

But what makes us think of America when we hear music?

The SOST invites you and your students to a FREE concert exploring all about American Music. The 45-minute program will cover everything from a hoedown, a march, American classical, jazz, and modern music from a living composer.

Your students will learn how songs teach us historical stories, and how we remember images just as if we read words in a book. This program is dedicated to fifth grade students utilizing many of the key elements included in STARR testing. We hope you'll take a morning adventure and join us by completing the form below.

Email completed form to mwalker@sost.org, fax to 409-892-0117 or
